NORAD Tracks Santa 2013 3D Model

Team YANTSU Newsletter-July 25th, 2014

Message from Nick Tay-

The past few weeks have been a leap in progress for Team YANTSU. We had our first meeting, beginning plans for so much to come. We began a new partnership with the MyMerryChristmas network, the largest internet Christmas celebration in the world. What does this mean for Team YANTSU? We get new promotions on MyMerryChristmas forums, get advertising on Kringle Radio, as well as a brand new website domain, www.santatracking.net. Team YANTSU is no longer updating www.trackginsanta.weebly.com, so please go to our new website for the latest updates.

We recently also took in lots of new members. I would like to welcome Matthew Glynne and Luke Peck to Team YANTSU, and we are excited to see what you can do here to contribute to our Christmas tradition. We also recently merged with TBZ Santa trackers, another group similar to Team YANTSU who uses YouTube to entertain their fans while tracking Santa. Their members are now in our Cabinet.

Team YANTSU also recently created, in conjunction with Jeff Westover, our partner at MyMerryChristmas, a group or "union" of santa tracking groups. This group will be a combined resource of multiple groups of Santa tracking groups and websites that will share information regarding Santa tracking. You can find more information about that on www.santatrackers.org.

Team YANTSU wants to remind all of our viewers of two MAJOR changes to our santa tracking platform to the 2014 tracking season:

1. Our move to www.santatracking.net
2. Our move last year from BlogTV (defunct) to Ustream.tv
(ustream.tv/channel/team-yantsu-s-annual-trackingsanta-live-show)

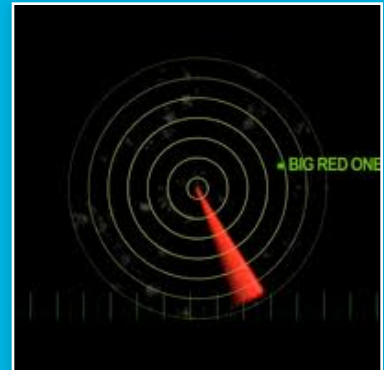

Keep checking back on our website for more Team YANTSU updates throughout the summer and into the fall as we begin planning to track Big Red One this Christmas Eve.

Enjoy your summer,

Nick Tay

Head of YANTSU
