

Team YANTSU Newsletter

December 22, 2013

Synopsis

Thank you all so much for all the hard work and dedication spent getting ready for the 2013 tracking season. On Tuesday, you will all see how your work paid off as we track Santa with NORAD in our 15-hour livestream, updating social media, Skyping with fans, and tracking skills you might have picked up this year. If you are a fan of Team YANTSU and you just enjoy reading our newsletters, we hope you enjoy everything we offer to you as a viewer and subscriber to all of our free content. As we close out an awesome prep season and get to the big day, we at Team YANTSU want to wish everyone a safe and very Merry Christmas. It takes a lot of time and dedication to put this event together and this is a year we definitely will not disappoint you guys. With over 3000 people expected to attend like usual, Team YANTSU has planned out every detail of switching to multimedia presentations throughout the day. This year we have a preshow you can watch on Monday at 8PM EST with our very own Jason Strait, so don't miss out on that! We would like to thank you for an awesome year and we hope to see you in 2014 as we ring in the new year. Enjoy our content and we will see you soon

- All of us at Team YANTSU 2013

To track Santa with Team YANTSU, go to <http://bit.ly/182OT0n> where we will be streaming all day on December 24 from 8AM-11PM EST live on UStream.TV. You will be able to watch everything also on our website at the "TRACK SANTA LIVE 2013" tab available here. Hosts from the US and Canada will keep you occupied throughout the day and night telling you Santa's location.

Member of the Week

Since we missed last week's newsletter, we have our final two members for 2013: Justin Baros and William Heaphy. This is Justin's second year at Team YANTSU and he helps out frequently in multimedia productions and is currently the Director of Communications. William Heaphy is a brand new member at Team YANTSU and will be helping as a chat administrator and in social media departments. Thanks to you both for all your contributions!

December 24

December 24 is now officially about 1 day away! Team YANTSU is pushing super hard to finish wrapping all the gifts and decorating all of their rooms and sets to the standards of the viewers and of themselves. We are starting to spend holiday time with our families just like everyone else and we do what we can to make this a very memorable experience every year. We hope you enjoy what we have planned for you this year!

Thanks to Stacey Knott of NORAD Public Affairs for her continued support and countless hours of working with Team YANTSU to make sure all the information given was correct and made sure this promoted them and their company as well. She has been a HUGE asset to the team and her hard work should not go without mention. Thanks so much Stacey!

Make sure you do not forget to donate to Toys for Tots and the Salvation Army this holiday season for those less fortunate. It is never too late to help out!
