

Team YANTSU Newsletter

December 6, 2013

Synopsis

Team YANTSU is on the verge of insanity. Not really, but we just want to tell you how busy we really are at this time of year. Team YANTSU has been working on a daily basis since late November to bring you the top news from NORAD Tracks Santa. We are sorry we did not get this issue out on December 1 as originally promised, but we can cover more ground now. The NORAD website has officially opened for public viewing and it is awesome to say the least. Check out this quick post made by Nick Tay of Team YANTSU fame...

The mobile apps are now available for download in the app stores all around the world (except North Korea... cough cough... not really... jk, but probably true) and available at the bottom of the NORAD Tracks Santa website. You can visit their website at <http://www.noradsanta.org/> to track Santa on December 24, 2013.

To track Santa with Team YANTSU, go to <http://bit.ly/182OT0n> where we will be streaming all day on December 24 from 8AM-11PM EST live on UStream.TV. You will be able to watch everything also on our website at the "TRACK SANTA LIVE 2013" tab available here. Hosts from the US and Canada will keep you occupied throughout the day and night telling you Santa's locations.

Member of the Week

The Member of the Week now is Brayden Thomas! Brayden has been with the Founding Members of Team YANTSU since the show started in 2009. Brayden specializes himself in Twitter feed updating and YouTube specializations for video uploading in regards to NORAD Tracks Santa content and holiday commercials for three YouTube Channels: Elezb101, AYearRoundChristmas, and his always annually present ChristmasAdvent(insert year here) channels. Brayden also does chat admin work and is an excellent host everyone loves to see and hear from. Thanks for your support Brayden!

December 24

December 24 is now officially 17 days away and Team YANTSU is working SUPER hard to get everything together in regards to press releases, video development, and just decorating in general. We will be opening our homes to TV news, newspapers, and media over the coming weeks in the hope that Team

YANTSU can spread the joy of tracking Santa Claus, broadcasting to thousands, and just enjoying the Christmas season in general. With a big turnout expected on the show this year, we can only hope that many of you will turn out as well. To all Team YANTSU members: you are running out of time to send in video clips, so please record them and get them in as soon as possible. Nick Tay needs his start-of-show footage by December 15, 2013 and Patric Covey needs advertisements for the show no later than December 20, 2013 unless otherwise specified. For all of you who have been faithful to our Team YANTSU newsletter, thank you so much for your continued support. With 3 issues left, we hope you can help continue this great effort and just let us know how we are doing or if there is anything else you want us to add to it in the future.

Best regards,
Team YANTSU Admins 2013

This is a very cold time of year, so make sure you bundle up and also keep your pets inside and warm during this time of year.

Make sure you do not forget to donate to Toys for Tots and the Salvation Army this holiday season for those less fortunate.
